

Joint EWI-FCN Seminar in Energy Economics

October 13, 2017, 12:00 – 17:30

ewi, University of Cologne

Alte Wagenfabrik - Vogelsanger Str. 321a - 50827 Köln

Agenda

Presentations (each 20 minutes) and discussion (each 20 Minutes)

12:00 – 12:20	Welcome	Prof. Dres. Marc Bettzüge, Felix Höffler, Wolf Ketter (EWI) Prof. Dr. Reinhard Madlener (FCN)
12:20 - 13:00	Driven by change? EV drivers' acceptance and perceived productivity at Deutsche Post DHL.	Stefanie Wolf (FCN)
13:00 - 13:40	Household's Dynamic Choice in Energy Efficient Technology	Sebastian Mertesacker (University of Cologne)
13:40 - 14:20	Response to Dynamic Electricity Pricing: A Laboratory Tool to Investigate Interventions	Tugba Atasoy (FCN)
14:20 - 15:00	Coffee Break
15:00 - 15:40	Welfare Potential of Liming in Zambia - Analysis of the Effect of Technological Progress in a Numerical Spatial Open-Market Model (MPEC)	Niklas Hinkel (Cologne Graduate School)
15:40 - 16:20	The turning tide: How energy has driven the transformation of the British economy since the Industrial Revolution	Julius Frieling (FCN)
16:20 – 17:00	Minimum Volume Quotas and Market Power - What are the benefits of LNG import quotas for the Lithuanian Natural Gas Market	Florian Weiser (ewi ER&S)
17:00 – 17:30	Summary and Outlook Snacks & Kölsch	